In presenting my 1913-'14 list of peonies to the flower-loving public, I do so with a consciousness that it is a list of varieties much superior to any list offered so far. In addition to this, purchasers can rest assured they will get roots unsurpassed for vigor, since my whole plantation has recently been placed in new ground.

The limited space of a price list precludes full description of the varieties offered. They are all standards, and those who purchase them can rest assured they are making no mistake.

I invite correspondence with parties who purchase for special purposes, as for cut flowers, landscape, park or cemetery planting, etc.

The best time for planting peonies is in the fall of the year, from September 1st until frost interferes with the work. The earlier they are set the better will they become established—they start growing at once.

Plant in good soil, about two by four feet for cut flowers, and set the roots three inches below the surface. Place all the fertilizer on the top after the ground is frozen. A good dressing each year will produce fine flowers.

The roots sent out are strong divisions from two-year clumps, two to five or more eyes, and have always given perfect satisfaction.

Packing for shipment is done in the most thorough manner free of charge. Would advise all shipments up to twenty pounds sent by express; above that by freight.

Terms: Cash with order.
